Customer comments

"I approached Keith Aubrey and Piotr Obal to undertake a piece of work for Greenwich Day Services for people with learning disabilities. We were looking at undertaking major service changes and looking at ways to communicate the changes in a visual way to people who use our service. We wanted an accessible DVD which we could use as part of a rolling programme of consultation sessions. Keith and Piotr understood exactly what we were looking for and set about filming and compiling a DVD to show to people to help them understand what changes we were making and how they could choose to do different things with their days if they wanted to.

"We were difficult customers and wanted changes and edits continuously. Keith and Piotr were responsive and flexible and could not have been more helpful every step of the way. Their experience of making communication accessible for people with a learning disability is clear and we are very happy with the final product."

Claire Monmirelle, Day Services Manager, London Borough of Greenwich

"Keith's work at Working with Words was of the very highest quality. Keith pushed the frontiers of Easy Read design and information for marginalised and hard to reach groups forward with every job he did. This in itself is impressive, the fact that he worked totally alongside and in genuine partnership with learning disabled people as he did it was nothing short of remarkable."

Pete Le Grys, co-founder of Photosymbols

"I have worked with Keith on a number of projects over the years, making information more accessible to people with learning disabilities. His creativeness and ideas are an inspiration. He has got a great understanding of how best to communicate with both his customers and people with learning disabilities. When we have worked together I have always found him to deliver his work in a professional way and importantly - on time."
